

Lisa M. Millman, MD

EDUCATION

Yale University School of Medicine, New Haven, CT August 2001 to May 2006
Doctor of Medicine

Fairfield University, Fairfield, CT August 1996 to May 2000
Bachelor of Science, Biology, Minor in Philosophy/Applied Ethics, Magna Cum Laude

POST-DOCTORAL TRAINING

Montefiore Medical Center, Bronx NY July 2006 to June 2009
Albert Einstein College of Medicine
Internship and Residency in Internal Medicine, Primary Care/Social Medicine Track

CERTIFICATION

American Board of Internal Medicine, Diplomate August 2009, certified through 2019
National Board of Medical Examiners, Completed Steps 1, 2 Clinical Skills/Knowledge, and 3
BLS & ACLS, certified through 2017

LICENSURE

New York State License
Active NPI and DEA

PROFESSIONAL SOCIETIES MEMBERSHIP

American College of Physicians
Physician Assistant Education Association

HONORS

Farr Scholar in Recognition of Excellence in Research, Yale School of Medicine, 2005
Phi Beta Kappa, Fairfield University, 2000
AΕΔ, Pre-medical Honor Society, Treasurer, Fairfield University, 1999-2000
Presidential Scholar, Fairfield University, 1996-2000

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Medical Director, Physician Assistant Studies October 2016 to Present
Pace University, Pleasantville Campus

- Developing the mission statement along with designing, implementing, coordinating, and evaluating curriculum in compliance with current clinical practice guidelines
- Assisting in the procurement of clinical clerkships sites and facilitating communication between the program and the medical community.
- Integral role in faculty development and facilitating scholarly research endeavors amongst students and faculty

Hospitalist Attending, Internal Medicine July 2015 to June 2016
Vassar Brothers Medical Center

- Attending on direct care service and supervising nurse practitioners on inpatient and consult services
- Nocturnist duties admitting and back up coverage for nurse practitioner for rapid response and code team

Academic Hospitalist Attending, Internal Medicine July 2009 to June 2015
Montefiore Weiler, Moses, and Wakefield Campuses, Albert Einstein College of Medicine

- Supervising and teaching physician assistants, residents, and medical students while attending on inpatient and consult services

Doris Duke Clinical Research Fellowship for Medical Students June 2004 to June 2005
JoAnne Foody, MD, FACC, Yale University School of Medicine

- Gained skills in how to design and execute clinical research projects
- Attended Robert Wood Johnson Fellowship classes offered to first year fellows

Medical Student Summer Research Training Fellowship

May 2002 to August 2002

Sidney Bogardus, MD, Yale University School of Medicine

- Examined how older patients' personal goals and counseling prior to hospital discharge effect medication adherence outcomes one week post-discharge

ACADEMIC APPOINTMENTSAssistant Clinical Professor, Physician Assistant Studies

March 2017 to Present

Pace University, Pleasantville Campus

- Developing lesson plans, lectures, and supplemental learning materials focused on clinical education, basic sciences, statistics, and research methods

Assistant Professor, Internal Medicine

Nov 2013 to June 2015

Albert Einstein College of Medicine

- Performed teaching attending rounds on the inpatient service with residents, third year clerks and fourth year sub-interns and taught the accompanying clinical reasoning course for the internal medicine clerkship
- Taught in the introduction to clinical medicine class for first and second year medical students instructing basic and advanced history and physical exam skills as well as clinical write-ups

COURSES AND ADDITIONAL TRAININGHazelden Professionals in Residence Program, New York, NY

May 2009

- Intensive education and certification in the treatment of substance abuse disorders and related health policy issues

Kisoro District Hospital, Kisoro, Uganda

November 2008

- Medical rotation in rural Uganda, providing inpatient and outpatient care and teaching to Ugandan clinical officers

Global Health Elective, Montefiore Medical Center, Bronx, NY

June 2008

- Studied public health and received specialized training in tropical medicine from experts in the field

Montefiore STD Center for Excellence, Bronx, NY

March 2008

- Completed a specialized three day training course in the diagnosis and treatment of sexually transmitted infections

Doctors of the World – USA Human Rights Clinic, Bronx, NY

July 2007 to Present

- Received training in the physical and mental examination of victims of torture
- Provided detailed affidavits of findings

Citiwide Outreach Program, Bronx, NY

July 2007 to June 2008

- Led medical outreach to underserved populations (homeless, HIV+) in single room occupancy hotels

Clinical Epidemiology Elective, Montefiore Medical Center, Bronx, NY

May 2007

- Comprehensive training in basic epidemiology
- Participated in resident led literature review seminars addressing pertinent patient clinical questions

Yale School of Medicine Human Investigations Committee

Sept 2001 to May 2003

- Reviewed medical research protocols involving human subjects

RESEARCH PRESENTATIONS & MANUSCRIPTS

1. LM Millman. (2006). The Impact of High Density Lipoprotein Cholesterol on Five-Year Mortality Outcomes in Older Adults. Medical Research Thesis. Yale University, New Haven, CT.
2. LM Millman, Y Wang, MS, and JM Foody, MD, FACC (2006). The Impact of High Density Lipoprotein Cholesterol on Five-Year Mortality Outcomes in Older Adults. Yale Journal of Biology and Medicine. 79: 68-69.
3. LM Millman, Y Wang, MS, and JM Foody, MD, FACC. (2005). HDL Not Predictive of Longevity or Cardiovascular Events in Older Adults: Findings from the EPESE Study. Poster Presentation: American College of Cardiology Meeting, Atlanta, GA.
4. LM Millman and JM Foody, MD, FACC. (2005). The Prognostic Value of HDL in Older Persons: Experience from the EPESE Study. Poster Presentation: Doris Duke Clinical Research Fellows Meeting, Tarrytown, NY.
5. LM Millman. (2000). The Doctor-Patient Relationship through History: Truth and the Healer. Honors Thesis in Philosophy, Fairfield University, Fairfield, CT.
6. RM Chambers, JW Fourqurean and L Millman. (1999). Relationship of sedimentary sulfur, iron and phosphorus cycling to water quality in Florida Bay: How seagrass die-offs contribute to algal blooms. Poster Presentation: Florida Bay Annual All-Scientists Meeting, Key Largo, FL.